

CRUSADERS

THY KINGDOM COME

From v.2PLAY coming soon, the success of the Crusades in your hands this Spring.

There are always two sides to a coin, two stories to tell the truth.

Crusader knights- warriors who defy the sufferings and dangers of a faraway land. They may be penniless mercenaries of proud princes, ruthless warriors or visionaries, but our heroes have one thing in common: their resolution and pledge to reach Jerusalem.

Your Christian Commanders:

Godfrey of Toulouse is from the Kingdom of France and is a young aristocrat of the royal family. His real capital is his army. Benefiting from a royal background, he leads strong and well-equipped soldiers into battles.

Lothar of Aachen, the second son of a wealthy family in Lorraine with no future in Europe but has a chance to gain new lands for himself through the Crusades. A Crusader with a keen eye on politics he is also a man of cautious tactics.

Pedro Luis Cativiela

When King Alfonso of Castille reclaimed the north of Spain, Pedro Luis was still a child, so he grew up in the peaceful Kingdom of Aragon and Navarre. But hearing the tales of the reconquista and the clashes between the Christians and the Almoravids he became an idealistic young man who decided to join the armies of Provence, truly believing in the pious idea of liberating the Holy Land.

Roger of Hastings, descendant of the conquerors of England, he is a ruthless, medieval mercenary. Fighting under the banners of Normandy he is accompanied by a tattered band of crusaders who all hope to find fame and fortune in the Holy Land.

Roberto of Naples, the descendant of a renegade family from the Papal State joins the Crusades, he only does what his Viking ancestors of Sicily did so effectively: to conquer new lands with the steel of his sword.

For more information:

Press Dpt.

Pº de la Castellana 9-11

28046 Madrid

pr@virginplay.es

www.virginplay.es

About Virgin PLAY:

Virgin Interactive España opened its doors in 1995 lead by Mariele Isidoro and Francisco Encinas as a subsidiary of the Virgin Interactive, owned by VIACOM. In May of 2002 Tim Chaney and Francisco Encinas lead a management buyout and renamed the company Virgin PLAY becoming the exclusive distributor in the Spanish and Portuguese markets for companies such as: Midway, Ignition (SNK), Koch Media and Koei just to name a few.

During this period, Virgin PLAY has become a leader in the videogame sector being responsible for launching franchises such as: Resident Evil, Command and Conquer, Driver and Baldur's Gate and is also the first 100% Spanish publisher for consoles.

Virgin's first publishing projects were Torrente 3, Dead & Furious and Final Armada. The company will add on to their catalogue with titles such as Donkey Xote, Snow x Racing, The Crusades and Real Madrid, which will be published under Virgins new brand: V2Play.

Virgin sells and distributes its products worldwide using local distributors as well as their own offices in Spain and Portugal. For more information: www.virginplay.es

About NeocoreGames:

NeocoreGames was founded in Budapest, Hungary in 2005. The main activity of the company is the development of interactive entertainment products focusing on the RTS/RPG genre. Our aim is to develop high quality products with more than enough competitive power by means of content and graphics to rival the leading games of this particular market niche. Experienced professionals in key positions and the optimization of the developing process are crucial in reaching this goal. Our firm belief is that this newly established development team can be highly competitive in the world-wide gaming business because of its professional organization and the immovable faith in our work.

www.neocoregames.com